

St. Gallen Wings of Excellence Award 2015

Purpose

This document contains all relevant information regarding a participation in the student essay competition for the St. Gallen Wings of Excellence Award 2015. In particular, you will find details about the competition questions, the formats, the general requirements for participation as well as the application process itself.

Overview

Graduate and postgraduate students from universities throughout the world are invited to participate in a student essay competition to seize the opportunity to qualify as “Leaders of Tomorrow” for the St. Gallen Symposium, which will take place from 6–8 May 2015. The authors of the 100 best contributions will be invited to engage in an inspiring dialogue at the symposium with current leaders and decision makers. The students are asked to contribute their own visions and ideas to the theme of the 45th St. Gallen Symposium, “Proudly Small”.

A professional work which could be an essay, a scenario, a project report or proposal, a multi-media presentation or an entrepreneurial concept is expected. While introducing new approaches and unconventional ideas, it should be constructive, provocative or instructive, and include inspiring thoughts and actions. The competitors must choose from one of three competition questions which refer to the overall theme of “Proudly Small”. The authors of the three most outstanding contributions will receive the St. Gallen Wings of Excellence Award which is endowed with a total of EUR 20,000.–. Moreover, the authors will be given the honour to present their thoughts and perspectives to the global community of the St. Gallen Symposium. All contributions will be evaluated according to specific criteria by two independent juries, composed of academics, corporate executives, entrepreneurs and politicians. The organising committee covers the costs for travel, board and lodging to enable invited students from all over the world to participate, regardless of their economic situation.
